1. Round 1

1.1. Reviewer 1

Reviewer:

Provide more detailed explanations of the research design, sampling methods, and data collection procedures. Elaborate on the statistical methods used, specifically path analysis, and provide a clearer interpretation of the results. Strengthen the discussion by linking findings more directly to existing theories and research in the field. Extend the section on practical implications, offering concrete recommendations for counseling practitioners.

1.2. Reviewer 2

Reviewer:

Clarify the conceptual framework, detailing how differentiation and communication patterns interact to impact emotional divorce.

Offer a more detailed description of the measurement tools used, including their validity and reliability in the context of this study.

Improve the clarity and depth in the presentation of results, ensuring they are well-connected to the study's hypotheses and research questions.

Enhance the discussion by comparing your findings with prior studies and exploring the implications for real-world application.

Discuss the generalizability of the findings and how they might apply beyond the study's specific context.
