1. Round 1

1.1. Reviewer 1

Reviewer:

Incorporate a broader range of studies to contextualize EFCT within the wider body of research on marital infidelity and its psychological impacts.

Clarify participant selection, including detailed inclusion and exclusion criteria, and provide more information on the intervention's content and structure.

Enhance the explanation of statistical methods used and justify the choice of analysis techniques.

Offer a more comprehensive discussion on how the findings contribute to existing literature and potential implications for practice.

More thoroughly address study limitations, particularly regarding the generalizability of the findings, and suggest specific areas for future investigation.

Authors revised the manuscript and uploaded the document.

1.2. Reviewer 2

Reviewer:

Provide a session-by-session breakdown of EFCT, highlighting therapeutic techniques and rationales.
Offer a more detailed presentation and interpretation of the data, including effect sizes and clinical significance.
Articulate clearer implications for clinicians and counselors working with similar populations.
Elaborate on ethical safeguards for participants given the sensitive nature of marital infidelity.

Authors revised the manuscript and uploaded the document.
